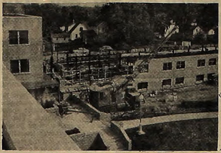
Lady In Shoe Has Nothing On Mrs. LaBahn



THE NEW AND THE NEWER sections of Centennial Hall are seen by TRUMPET lensman looking down on the construction scene of the new wing from the roof of Centennial's "old" arm.

By Marsha Arhart

How would you like to be mother to 154 coeds? Not only that, but how would it be to live in an overcrowded domicile and know that within a year, the family would increase one hundred more?

That's the situation Mrs. Rose LaBahn, Centennial Hall director, finds herself in.

Having served Wartburg College as a housemother for 18 years, Mrs. LaBahn has also reared two children of her own.

Ponders Progress

Mrs. LaBahn is also anxiously watching the progress of the new addition to Centennial Hall. The wing which is to be opened for the 1957-58 school year will house 128 girls.

"The new addition will mean I will be mothering about 250 girls," said Mrs. LaBahn. "My hardest task," she continued, "is the long hours required."

Progress of the addition, according to Mrs. LaBahn, is coming along very fast, and the second floor windows are almost completed.

Switchboard Coming

The new addition is scheduled to contain an all-campus switchboard. This will include a 24-hour duty service.

"I feel the new switchboard will be very nice," expressed Mrs. LaBahn. "If I don't have to take care of the telephone calls, I will have much more time just to go around to see and talk with the individual girls."

"Only those people in this type of work know just what it includes," she emphasized. "Working with young people is always a big responsibility," she said. "But it also is interesting and I enjoy it very much."

Senate Rejects Third Drive

By Harold Kurtz
Managing Editor

Senators turned down a proposal to add a third drive to campus giving as the governing body recommended that the Waverly Development Drive be substituted for the Student Body Project. Final passage must have Student Body approval.

In other action, the Senate elected John Solem as the college representative on the Waverly Chamber of Commerce; heard Ed Schneider, senior, report on the traveling trophy with Luther and agreed to hold meetings on the first and third Mondays of each month at 6:45.

3 Drives Too Many

Lengthy debate occupied Senate time as members discussed joining the drive for campus expansion to be started in Waverly during November. Possibilities discussed include putting the drive in place of the Community Chest, adding a third drive and replacing it with the Student Body Project.

Possibility of incorporating the expansion drive with the campus chest was discussed but turned down because senators felt it would be de-emphasizing the stewardship aspect of the chest.

It was also felt that three financial drives on campus within a year would not be feasible. Senators also did not approve of seeing the Waverly drive put in place of the campus community chest.

Schneider explained that the traveling sportmanship trophy with Luther College is currently held by Luther, who won it last year. Basis for winning the "axe" is total number of points scored in all athletic contests.

Chapel Discussed

Also discussed was the Danforth Prayer Chapel. It was reported at the meeting that it had been locked during the hours it should be open. Soph Senator Duane Matz, religious activities chairman, was appointed to investigate and report back to the Senate.

Senate news will again be aired over KWAR-FM. According to the recommendation passed, a 15-minute program will be held once a week.

MIX AND MATCH. Right feet and left feet of fellas and coeds get a work-out and mix-up during one of the games at last night's all school mixer.

Campus Expansion Awaits ALC Nod; 1,000 Enrollment Anticipated By 1960

No North Hall? This may become a fact if the long range development program for Wartburg continues as it is now planned.

The fate of North Hall has not been finally decided. The hall will either be moved to a new location or torn down, depending upon future enrollment.

Room For 820

If the enrollment continues to spiral, the scheduled improvements will include enough space for 820 students on the campus which would allow Wartburg's enrollment to reach the 1,000 mark by using off-campus residences along with the regular facilities.

H. C. Engelbrecht, college business manager, stated that the actual progress of the improvement plan will be determined by the American Lutheran Church convention which will be held next week.

College Buys Land

The college has purchased land west of 12th Street, which will be used as a trailer court. The present trailer court will be the location of the proposed library. Parking facilities will be available west of Knights Gymnasium.

Grossmann, the proposed new dorm and the present North Hall will house 420 men.

GOP Hears Beecher

Louis Beecher, Waterloo attorney, spoke to the Wartburg College Young Republicans Club this week, citing the farm policy and civil rights as the major issues in the campaign this fall. He further saluted the GOP with a capsuled history of that party.

Words For Little Children

Responsibility.

Big word, isn't it? A big word in many ways. When we were little children we had great difficulty in recognizing it, spelling it, knowing just what it meant. what it meant.

This our elders took for granted. "After all," they mused, "they're just children." Then the years rolled along and transformed us from toddling tots to "mature" college students. Now we recognize the word. Now we know just what it means.

Or do we?

Do we know what it is to accept responsibility? Do we know what it is to stand up and take the responsibility for what we have done or failed to do? Or are we still little children?

Let's look at two recent campus occurrences.

At the onset of the school year eight students joined with many others in taking on the responsibility of playing in the Wartburg Band. Part of this responsibility included marching and playing for Wartburg's four home football games. Two or three days before the first game, these eight people decided that they were "going home for the weekend and wouldn't be able to march Saturday." Just like that. Mature students or little children?

Two or three weeks ago some other Wartburgers presented themselves at the Little Theater and were cast in the Pi Beta Epsilon show. They accepted the responsibility of learning lines and music and faithfully attending rehearsals. Last week the TRUMPET carried a notice that the show had to be canceled because these people didn't live up to their responsibilities. Little children or college students?

These are just two examples; there are many, many more. What does it all mean? It means that our marching band is the poorer because it is undermanned. It means that those students who did march were let down by those who didn't. It means that there is now a blank in the social calendar where the PBE show had been scheduled.

Students look at students and say this is a bad thing. The administration looks at the students and say this is a bad thing. They say it's too bad that the students can't be given more responsibility.

The college now enjoys many things dependent largely upon student responsibility — five plays a year, Band, Castle Singers, Choir, student government and its associated privileges, Homecoming, campus publications, Outfly, extended dormitory hours (yes, they used to be earlier) and so many more they can't be enumerated here.

Remove student responsibility, and very shortly the corresponding privileges will disappear. Then students will be faced with just one responsibility — that of standing up to those who follow them and saying, "I'm responsible."

How about it — little children or college students?

Call Of The Swamplands Shakes Campus

No doubt it's an oversight, but the convocation committee in its endeavors to emphasize 1956 as a political year have done a gross injustice to one of the major political figures in the United States today.

It is an American principle that all parties should have an equal opportunity to express their views in this, an election year. Whether it be by oversight or whether it be intentional slighting, the convocation committee should take immediate steps to rectify this situation.

Students at Wartburg, in order to fully comprehend the issues and decide on the candidates, should be given the chance to hear the third party on this campus. Despite the various vicissitudes which have been imposed upon this movement, the prejudice and intolerance which has been heaped upon it and the discrimination which it has been shown, it shall continue to grow.

How long, oh, Wartburg, shall this continue? Throw the rascals out; it's time for a change, and I know not which course you may take, but as for me . . . "I Go Pogo!" —HPK

by Bob Loslo

It's only a rumor that it took three fellows a half hour to pull a football lineman out of that water fountain cubby hole in the Fine Arts building. But I do like the clever way you have to sneak up to the thing sideways to get a drink of water.

As a point of interest, last Saturday was the first time in the history of the victory bell competition between Wartburg and Upper Iowa that the game ended in a tie. Some of us thought we ought to have the bell, anyway, since Upper Iowa has had it a year now, but nobody was anxious to rush up amid all those "morally beaten" Peacocks and drag it back.

This is the first time in this columnist's experience that students have actually come up to him and asked him to do more "slamming" on a particular sore point in campus affairs. But I won't break down. I absolutely refuse to mention that the tables are still bare on Wednesday night in the cafeteria.

I know I'm speaking for most of the Student Body when I congratulate North Hall on a job well done last Saturday night.

It's kind of disheartening to see the conspicuous absence of green all of a sudden on our campus — and I don't mean the leaves. Please, freshmen? — until Homecoming?

Maybe all those people that went home last week when Wartburg played its first football game of the season will realize that the Knights are just a little better than they thought. Maybe next game we can field a good Student Body as well as fielding a good team. End of lecture.

Once more we turn to our category of irrelevant and useless statistics and remind the women (see there, I did call you "women" and not "girls") that there are only 93 days left of 1956, commonly known as leap year.

And there is the story of a college professor who sighted one of his more haughty associates crossing the campus and growled, "There, but for the grace of God, goes God."—Clipped.

Pity the plight of the unfortunate KWAR newscaster who has to give his program at the same time that both the chapel chimes and the Waverly six o'clock whistle decide to sound off.

What's that about "the hope that springs eternal within the human breast"? Come on. Cubs; close that gap.

Young Democrat, Bill Melvin, finds solace in the above quote too as he still goes from student to student trying to find a Democrat.

FOOTNOTES TO FAITH

Selfless or Selfish?

By Ed Schneider

"Lord, grant that I may seek rather to comfort than to be comforted, to understand than to be understood, to love than to be loved, for it is by giving that we receive; it is by self-giving that one finds; it is by dying that one awakens to eternal life."

This prayer of St. Francis of Assisi expresses a need of growing outward into a selflessness which is characteristic of Christian living.

Each of us is striving for something. It may be that we are striving for a worthwhile education, for a better chance at a higher position, for an interesting time or for a quantity of money. In all of this we are somehow trying to follow the advice of the philosopher who said, "Know thyself."

guard Arnie Brandt, has been slowed with an ankle injury all week but will probably be ready for the contest.

In one way or another we are all seeking to enlarge our lives. This is good because God has entrusted us with the responsibility of making the most of our talents and abilities.

But we need to stop now and then to ask ourselves why. Why do we want these things? If we are honest with ourselves we will find that too often we want these things only because we don't want to be left out and get any less out of life than anyone else. We have no real desire to understand or to help others. Using our talents and abilities in this selfish way is not in line with what God would have us do.

We must realize that God has placed us in this world along with many others and that we are required to live with them in a relationship which God himself has shown us when He sent Christ.

Instead of the old rut of selfishness we need to learn from our Savior and from the shining examples of Christians throughout the ages how to be unselfish and to share ourselves with others. We need to pray, as did St. Francis, that we might be made the channels of the love of God. In this way we will learn the real joy of living.

Search For Big 'Hot Spot' Poses Problem For Writers

By Don Oberdorfer

Many columnists today are speculating upon the possible "hot spots" around the world. After one listens to the promises that have been made by the national political parties, it seems to be a very plausible idea to forsake the whole realm of mud-slinging gibberish that we are now hearing and delve deeper into the mud of other lands.

Past incidents that have provoked warfare have taken place mainly in the Asiatic sphere. Korea, Indo-China, Viet-Nam and the aggression on Burmese territory (however short-lived), have been the inciting measures for part-or full-scale warfare. For a long period of time it looked fairly certain that the Formosan problem would involve the West in war once more. Inevitably, this arising crisis would be shunted off to the Security Council and the "police action" would grind to an uneasy halt.

The next area of trouble will, in my opinion, arise in the area of the "block" or the Middle East.

The heavy yoke of the British Crown moved uneasily on the bent shoulders of the oppressed Balkan people. Later, the same yoke moved uneasily on the shoulders of the ever murmuring Egyptians. They, however, gently took hold of the yoke and shoved. Today, the English government finds itself spread neatly on the ground. Nasser, Egypt's smiling gila monster, now parleys with the Russians and so much as tells the West that he is done with it.

Combined with these two trouble spots, we have the rest of the formidable Arabian bloc. These countries do not possess much in the line of military power; however, they do play a large part in the economic stability and resource power of the West. It would take very little to set these nations into motion against the West or themselves.

This all boils down to the fact that the fire now burns slowly but with gathering strength under the Mid-East area. My guess? Suez, Egypt, or the Balkan countries!

To the Editor:

As it was announced in last week's TRUMPET, the vaudeville show, to have been sponsored by Pi Beta Epsilon, was canceled. This was due to lack of cooperation from a number of students who committed themselves to work on the production and then failed to meet their obligations. It's too bad that a few irresponsible people have to spoil it for the rest, but that's the way the ball bounces, I guess.

Roever

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those people who so diligently did their part, only to find it in vain. It was impossible for me to see each person individually, although I would have liked to, so please accept my deepest thanks for all that you did. It was appreciated.

Sincerely,
JIM ROEVER.

Hans Sachs Hears Curtis On German Problems

At a special meeting of the Hans Sachs Verein Tuesday evening, Charlie Curtis, junior, spoke on "Prohlems of a G.I. in Western Germany." Recently returned to the campus, he has been with Army Communications Corps and stationed at Kaiserslautern, Germany.

Curtis drew the conclusion that the Germans want American soldiers. It was stated, however, that the Germans wanted the soldiers to know that they reserve the right to remove them from the country. The fact was restated with emphasis that "they wanted the American soldiers to remain" for fear of the Russians.

Common people liked the American soldier too; however, it is difficult to get to know them, Curtis stated.

"The best way tn get acquainted is tn associate with the church," he explained.

You Can Win a Cash Award—and Scholarship Money for Your College in

Reader's Digest

$41,000 CONTEST

Open to All College Students (Faculty, too!)

Nothing to buy...nothing to write

...and you may find you know more about people than you think!

How well do you know human nature? Can you tell what subjects interest people most? Here is a chance to test your judgment—show how good an editor you are—and you may win $5,000 for yourself, plus $5,000 in scholarship funds for your college.

It's fun to try. Maybe you can top other students in colleges across the country . . . and you can match wits with the editors of Reader's Digest.

Why do far more college graduates read Reader's Digest than any other magazine? What is it that makes the Digest the most widely read magazine in the world — with 11 million copies bought each month in the United States, plus 9 million abroad? Why is it read each month by at least 60 million people, in 12 languages—Arabic, Danish, English, Finnish, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Norwegian, Portuguese, Spanish and Swedish?

Can you spot in a typical issue of Reader's Digest the universal human values that link scholars, statesmen, scientists, writers, businessmen, housewives? Can you pick out the articles that will be most popular with the average Digest reader?

You may find . . . you know more about people than you think!

Here's all you do. Study the descriptions (at right) of the articles in the October Reader's Digest—or, better still, read the complete articles in the issue itself. (But you are not required to buy The Reader's Digest to enter the contest.) Then simply list the six articles—in order of preference—that you think readers of the magazine will like best. This will be compared with a nationwide survey conducted among a cross section of Digest subscribers.

Follow the directions given below. Fill in the entry blank, paste it on a post card, and get it into the mail before the deadline. Additional blanks are obtainable at your college bookstore.

All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, October 25, 1956. Don't delay. In case of ties, the entry with the earliest postmark will win.

Knights Invade BV Seeking First Win

By Bill Melvin

Wartburg invades Storm Lake tonight for a 7:30 Iowa Conference battle with veteran Buena Vista.

Coach Norman Johansen will be taking his Knights up against a foe that has 16 returning lettermen. Last year the Beavers finished fourth in the Iowa Conference with a 3-2-1 record and a 19-7 trouncing over Wartburg.

Looking forward to tonight's game, Johansen said, "They have three returning servicemen who lettered in football previously, and this might give them some added strength."

Jo Sees Passes

Johansen also indicated that the Knight defense might see a lot of passing from Beaver quarterback, Jerry Ibach, whom the Knight mentor respects as a good signal caller.

Held to a scoreless tie by Westmar last week, the Beavers' best offense was their passing game, which accumulated 120 yards on six completions.

Top receiver for Ibach's throws is end Jerry Nichols, one of the service returnees mentioned by Johansen.

BV Loses Fullback

Biggest loss from last year's Buena Vista squad was powerful fullback Waldo Johnson, who carried for a season's rushing average of 5.8 yards. Coach Dean Laun's answer to the fullback problem this year has been James Edwerds, a 200-pound transfer from La Crosse State.

Two Buena Vista backfield men received injuries in last week's encounter and are doubtful performers in tonight's game.

Buena Vista's administration building was ranged by fire late Thursday night but Pres. John A. Fisher announced that tonight's game will be played.

Final Play Ties UIU

Art Margheim punched over his third touchdown of the day in the final two seconds as Wartburg tied Upper Iowa 19-19 at Waverly Municipal Field last Saturday afternoon.

Margheim's attempted conversion after the final gun was rushed by the Upper Iowa line and went wide, enabling the outplayed Peacocks to escape from their Iowa Conference opener with a tie.

Wartburg dominated the game all the way but was forced to come from behind as a result of two bad breaks in the final quarter.

Terry Stevens, faking a place kick, passed to end Earl Moe to tie the score. A few minutes later Upper Iowa guard Monte Fay picked off a Knight fumble in mid-air and lumbered 71 yards to make it 19-13.

With less than three minutes remaining, the Knights drove to the Upper Iowa 14 only to lose the ball on downs. Upper Iowa held the ball until only 53 seconds remained before being forced to punt. Freshman Larry Raper returned the kick to the Upper Iowa 32.

With time running out, Margheim connected with Ray Boyens on the 15. Unable to find a receiver on the next play, Margheim skirted right end and raced to the three.

Chuck Nichol tried to smash over from there but was stopped short. With only two seconds remaining, Upper Iowa was penalized to the one for delaying the game to set up Margheim's decisive thrust.

Recovering a fumble on their own 41, the Knights moved to a touchdown in nine plays. Mergheim scored from the four after a fourth down pass to Boyens from the 18 set it up. Margheim's kick made it 7-6.

WARTBURG has the ball, Upper Iowa receives a block, the referee falls down on the job and the contest winds up in a 19-19 tie.

I'm Not The Coach, But...

By Stark Wreelism

I knew it! I knew it! It just doesn't pay to make predictions. Last week I predicted Luther first, Upper Iowa second and Parsons third. So what happens? Before the predictions are even in print, Parsons gets beat, and Luther and Upper Iowa get tied.

Now don't get me wrong — I'm not complaining about any of those games, especially Upper Iowa and Wartburg. It's too bad the Knights couldn't have gotten a couple of breaks in that one. They really deserved them. Let's face it, Upper Iowa is mighty lucky that that victory bell isn't resting firmly in Knights Gymnasium right now.

I think a lot of credit should go to Coach Norman Johansen and his assistants Bill Fruehling and Bob Campbell. Lack of experience and weight made things look pretty blue in the opening days of practice, but come last Saturday they had put together a potent football machine that did everything but push favored Upper Iowa off the football field.

Praise is also due the players, as they're the ones that went out and did the job. Veterans and newcomers alike gave the crowd a performance they won't forget overnight.

Art Margheim proved again that he is really a master of deception at ball handling from the quarterback spot in the split-T. He also gave warning to future opponents that he is going to be an offensive threat both as a runner and a passer.

Sophomore end Ray Boyens and freshman halfback Chuck Nichol established themselves as dependable receivers for Margheim's aerials. Much improved Ralph Wolken and sophomore Darwin Fritz gave the impression that the Knights will have a better running game than last year.

Besides Nichol, freshman Larry Raper looked like a valuable addition to the Knight backfield. Frosh linemen Don Sahling and Earl Pelland were added good news up front. Of course, veterans Al Limberg and Bob Keister showed themselves as real anchors in that forward wall.

Hey there, anybody that's reading this. Next weekend Iowa Wesleyan will be in town. Don't let that roommate of yours take off for home. Get all your friends out to that ball game. Let's back these boys. It's going to be an interesting season.

Football, Bowling Get Underway In 'Mural Race

Wartburg intramural program is well underway this week with the completion of teams in the flag football race, bowling and the start of the fall tennis tourney.

Mel Fram, intramural director, stated that all male students who wish to participate in IM competition this year will have to pay 25 cents during the next week. All women wishing to take part during the coming season are asked to pay 15 cents.

Getting into full swing this weekend, is the fall tennis tourney. First round entries in the men's division will be completed Friday evening. On Saturday the male netsters are slated for action in doubles competition. Finalists in both sections will be taking the courts the latter part of next week to determine the champions. Don Hamilton, director of the net meet, announced that pairings for the contest have been posted.

High team series in the second week of action in the bowling league, went to Fred Jaspers' team with a 2,224 pin total. Arnie Deguisne posted the high individual series with a 521 total, with Jaspers rolling a 513.

The fall golf tourney is slated to get under way the weekend of Oct. 5, 6 and 7, immediately following the tennis tourney. The golf meet is being headed by Ralph Wolken.

Defending champs, Grossman III, started their season off on the right foot, stopping Vollmer House 26-7 in flag football activity on Tuesday. On Thursday Larson-Wuebbens squeezed by North Hall in a 13-6 thriller.

How to Make a Bag of Peanuts Pay Off

Ever thought how much the cost of a bag of peanuts saved each day can mean to your future? Did you know, for example, that for those "peanuts" you can own an endowment policy of $2,200?

Let's say you want money for retirement at age 65. Here's how those "peanuts"—20¢ a day—pay off for you . . .

After only 20 years you're all paid up — then at age 65 you get back all you've paid in — plus a gain of $2,000 in interest and dividends (per present rate of dividends). And you've been protected for the full amount of the policy during the entire time!

This kind of pay-off is why hundreds of students start their insurance program with Lutheran Brotherhood right while they're in school. Interested? Write . . .

Hovdesven Shows Versatality

(This is the first of a saries of articlas on tha directors of tha thrae musical organizations participating in the dedication of the Fina Arts Canter. Faatures on Band director Ernest Hagen and Choir maestro Edwin Liemohn will appear in the following issues.—Ed.)

By Jim Roever

Completion of the new Fine Arts Center finds one of Wartburg's fine artists in a new location. One of the three directors on campus, Dr. E. Arne Hovdesven teaches organ in addition to directing the Castle Singers.

Here Seven Years

Seven years ago D. Hovedesven first set foot on the Wartburg campus, in addition to his teaching duties took over what was then the Chapel Choir, renamed it and thus was born the Castle Singers. "A group that performs the service to the school in permitting two-year teachers, pre-theological students and singers who couldn't get into the Choir to gain experience in choral work," Hovdesven calls it.

His many organ and choral compositions have been published by a number of New York City, Philadelphia and Boston publishing houses, and he is an active member in the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

A recent composition, "Out of This Prairie," a musical rendition of the poem by Carl Sandburg, written especially for the occasion, will be presented by a joint group of the Castle Singers and the Wartburg Band, directed by Ernest Hagen, on the evening of Oct. 18 as a contribution to the Music and Art Festival.

New Building 'Tops'

"The new Fine Arts building is tops—it's wonderful," stated Hovdesven when asked how the new facilities were working.

"The large rehearsal auditorium is a real asset for the choirs," he went on to say.

Although enjoying the nine-months' stay in Waverly every year, "Doc" is quite the globetrotter during the summer months, with his favorite stomping grounds in Europe. This past summer he, along with a doctor friend from Minnesota, stayed at the Grand Hotel in Oslo, Norway, next door to three Moroccan princesses, equipped with three Cadillacs and 40 pieces of luggage.

Plays Oldest Organ

The oldest baroque organ in the world, located in Roros, Norway, came to life this summer at the hands of "Doc", along with many other organs in Scotland and Denmark.

A versatile gentle man, he has played some of the finest organs in Europe, served as an organ recitalist, lived next door to three Moroccan princesses and unuintentionally became a "movie star."

After spending many years in the organ field, exemplified by his position as recitalist at the Mercersburg Gothic Chapel in Pennsylvania, he chose to direct the Seminary Chorus at Wittenburg College, Springfield, Ohio.

"Copenhagen was the scene of one of the most interesting experiences on our summer trip," said Hovdesven. "We walked out on the block-long terrace to have breakfast, and noticed that it was completely covered with tables but hardly a vacant one."

The two travelers journeyed through the maze and eventually found a seat, but poor service was evident. A discovery, however, revealed movie cameras grinding away, and who should come strolling by but John Payne, the motion picture star. It seems that the two companions had become movie extras.

The next John Payne movie that comes out will probably find "Doc" Hovdesven sitting in the front row. A great actor on the screen, and a great—although his modesty would deny it—man in the audience.

VERSITILE "Doc" Hovdesven turns maestro as he wields the baton for Castle Singers as the junior choral group readies for the Fine Arts Festival.

Speakers Set For FAC; E. Liemohn To Be Honored

By Doris Henning

Dedication of the Fine Arts Center will be the highlight of the Music and Art Festival beginning Oct. 16 at Wartburg.

The festival will also be an observance of Dr. Edwin Liemohn's twentieth year at Wartburg. Coming to Wartburg in 1937, Dr. Liemohn is head of the Music Department and director of the Warthurg Choir.

He has been instrumental in establishing a recognized music department at Warthurg. His outstanding achievement came in 1952 when Warthurg became a member of the National Association of Schools of Music.

Dedication services for the Fine Arts Center will be held Friday afternoon at 3 in the gymnasium. Dedicatory speakers will be Dr. William F. Schmidt, chairman of the Board of Higher Education of the American Lutheran Church, and Dr. B. J. Holm, president of Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque.

Alumni Choir To Sing

Highlight of the dedication and in special observance of Dr. Liemohn's anniversary will be the mass singing of the Wartburg Choir graduates over the past twenty years. Over 230 choir alumni are expected.

Climaxing the entire festival and dedication will be the annual fall concert of the Warthurg Choir. The concert will he given Friday evening at 8:15 in the gymnasium.

Throughout the festival the Fine Arts Center will feature an exhibit by the Art Department entitled "The Eye of the Iowa Artist."

The dedication takes place almost one year after the dedication of the Student Memorial Union and Danforth Chapel, observed last year on Oct. 30. It will be the third in a trio at recent dedications beginning with Centennial Hall in 1954.

Usher Club Meets, Elects Secretary

Marcia Peters, senior, was recently elected secretary of Ushers Club, an organization of sixty ushers and usherettes. She will assist seniors Myrin Bentz, president, and Delores Lillich, vice president, who were elected last spring.

Builders, Micich On Convo Ticket

Tuesday's convocation program will feature one of Warthurg's Volunteer Parish Builders Teams. Members of this team, which spent the summer working in congregations in Green Bay, Wis., Worthington and St. Paul, Minn., are Harold Hinrichs, Valeria Johnson, Joan Oltman and Doug Soley.

At Tuesday's program the team will tell of experiences during the past summer in an effort to show students the need for a personal evangelism.
